

NYTimes.com library subscription for off-site and mobile app access

The New York Times website allows everyone to read 5 articles for free every month. After that, NYTimes.com prompts you to subscribe. That's called "hitting the paywall." When you hit the paywall,

1. Go to www.knoxlib.org/nyx for your gift subscription code. (Tip: open a new browser tab.)
2. Use the "validate with this access code" link at the end of the description.
3. At this step, you still see the library logo. Sign in with your library card and PIN.
4. At this step, you see the New York Times logo. Use the Redeem button.
5. At this step, you see the account page illustrated below. If you haven't created an account with NYTimes.com before, create one with Google, Facebook, or your email address. If you have an account, validate your gift subscription with the "log in" link.
6. When your access is confirmed, return to reading NYTimes.com in the browser or in the app.

There is no limit to the number of times you can redeem this access, while supplies last.
